MATTERS IN WESTERLY COURT

Minor Civil Suits Considered Friday—Judge Williams Defers Decision in Bastardy Case—Amos E. Burdick to Answer to Charge of Contempt of Court—General Stanton Inn Raided, But No Evidence of Gambling Found—Thefts from Watch Hill Chauffeurs.

At the regular Friday session of the Third district court, Judge Oliver H. Williams presiding, a large number of minor civil suits, book accounts, were continued, but the case of Max Lahn against Chicky Mous, the account beginning in 1910, was heard. A balance due of $34.64, allowing a $10 set off was heard. Attorney Ferguson explained this set off was for work done by Chicky at the Lahn cottage at Pleasant View. Attorney McKenna, counsel for defendant, claimed a set off of $53, and a balance due from Lahn. Judgment for $10 and costs was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

In the bastardy case of Ellery S. Barber, overseer of the poor, against Joseph T. Grillo, unconditional release of the case from the Third district court was asked for by Judge Herbert W. Rathbun, counsel for defendant. It was claimed that the woman in the case was now a resident of Bridgeport, and that Grillo had been arrested, brought before a court in that city and complete settlement was made of the case there, to the satisfaction of the young woman, her mother and the court. He said the woman had no legal settlement in Westerly, and that the case was practically beyond the jurisdiction of the court. Town Solicitor Agard argued to the contrary, and for the retention of the case in court, to safeguard the town and state should the child, when delivered, become a public charge. Judge Williams took the matter under advisement for a week.

In the case of the Bentley-Clark Auto company, Amos E. Burdick was before the court charged with contempt in not complying with the order of the court. The plaintiff several months ago was given judgment of $136 against defendant, and in order to aid Burdick, the court issued order that payments be made weekly on the installment plan and not less than $2 a week. The sum of $12 was paid on this plan and then payment was stopped, none being made for the past four months. Citation was issued to Burdick to appear in court Friday, in contempt, and explain why the order of the court was not respected.

Judge Rathbun stated that five minutes before the opening of court he had been asked to represent Burdick, and therefore had no time to investigate and was consequently not able to present the defendant's side of the case intelligently. He asked for continuance for one week.

Attorney Agard objected, as the citation had been issued a week ago. He said that Burdick was no juvenile in court matters, and that his tardiness to get counsel, only just before the court opened, was merely for the purpose of more and perhaps continuance delay.

Continuance was denied and Burdick was called to the bar. After a brief inquiry by the judge, he was told to appear in court next Friday, and show cause, if any he had, why the order of the court was disregarded.

Sheriff John R. Wilcox, in compliance with orders of Governor Beane that all gambling must cease in the state, notified the known gambling resorts in Washington county to that effect. This was done by the Sheriff Thursday afternoon. Sheriff Wilcox was in conference with the governor at Narragansett Pier, and received orders to visit the General Stanton Inn on the Post road, and to seize any gambling paraphernalia found there. The sheriff came to Westerly Thursday evening, obtained a search warrant, and accompanied by Deputy Sheriff George Phillips went to the inn and searched for gambling implements but found none in the parts of the house searched.

The Fifty-third Field Artillery brigade, of the Twenty-sixth Army division, was reviewed Thursday, at Boxford, Mass., by Major General

Clarence K. Edwards, commanding The Rhode Island battalion of the One Hundred and Third regiment, by reason of the seniority of Colonel E. T. Smith, headed the line. All of the units were dismounted and made a good showing in infantry formation. Battery A was under command of Captain H. E. Barker, B under Captain Gerald Harley and C under Captain D. S. Babcock.

Recently transferred from the Rhode Island Coast Artillery, commanded the Second battalion composed of Battery D of New Hampshire, and Batteries E and F, of Connecticut.

The "enterprising burglars are still abounding" with Watch Hill, these burglars have no trace of the silver were stolen from the Hettle and Davis properties on Monday night, nor do the burglars have any clue of substance as to the thieves. Before the mist is cleared on these burglaries when all come a couple more in the same sack Thursday night. This time the burglars were in Griscom lane were visited and looted. At each place complete chauffeur suits were taken and among other articles missing are a suit case and a camera.

At the annual meeting of the Misquamicut Golf club, Watch Hill, these officers were elected: James M. Pendleton, president; George A. Briggs, vice president; James A. Atwood, Jr., honorary secretary; Walter E. Hope, treasurer; William Clark, captain. The governing executive, greens and house committees were also elected, in which are included many summer residents of Watch Hill.
